DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-55, and 59-60, drawn to selection of a terrestrial or satellite network to transmit data, classified in class 455, subclass 517.
 - II. Claims 56-58 and 61-62, drawn to transmission of vehicle diagnostic data via a satellite network, classified in class 701, subclass 29.
 - III. Claims 63--70, drawn to a gateway for receiving and processing data, classified in class 340, subclass 989.
 - IV. Claims 71-73, drawn to an interface board with power management, classified in class 455, subclass 557.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as a remote monitoring system that does not require any terrestrial communication links . See MPEP § 806.05(d).
3. Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the software gateway does not require each vehicle monitoring system to include a microprocessor for selectively transmitting over a terrestrial or satellite network. The subcombination has separate utility such as a monitoring circuit for transmitting to a first local station over a terrestrial link and a second widely distributed station over a satellite link.

4. Inventions I and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as having separate power supplies for each of the satellite and terrestrial modems. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the wireless appliance is not required to selectively transmit on a terrestrial network. The subcombination has separate utility such as a remote vehicle monitoring device for transmitting solely information with regard to next oil change.

6. Inventions II and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as such as having separate power supplies for each of the satellite and terrestrial modems. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

7. Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as wherein the adapters are individually powered. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II/III/IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3662

9. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group III/IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for Group IV, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

11. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
